MARKET UPDATE

Beef, Poultry & Dairy

Beef-Beef output last week decreased 4.1% but was .3% larger than the same week a year ago. Beef markets have remained firm counter to the seasonal (lower) trend. Domestic and international demand for beef end cuts and for beef trimmings has been strong. A deflated dollar would continue to support these markets. Pasture conditions remain in poor shape in the Southwest US. Plus, alfalfa hay and feed grain costs are expensive. This is bearish for beef output for 2012 as cattle supplies will be limited. The USDA is forecasting beef production to be down 4% during the first half of next year.

Chicken-Chicken producers continue to aggressively reduce future chicken production. Broiler-type eggs sets last week were down 7% from the same week in '10 and were the smallest for any week since October '02. This remains supportive for the chicken markets. High feed costs are expected to persist. Chicken producer margins have improved recently but are still historically poor. Seasonal demand for chicken wings is healthy. The ARA daily chicken wing index has risen 13.3% in four weeks and further price gains for wings are probable. The chicken breast markets have come under pressure which is usually the case in September. Expect chicken breast prices to move lower in the coming weeks.

Dairy- August milk production was 2.2% more than last year due to a 1% rise in milk per cow yields and a 1.1% larger milk cow herd. The milk cow herd rose in August as attractive milk prices motivated dairy farmers to increase their herd. International cheese prices were up slightly in the recent global dairy trade auction but are still 6.5% below their July high. Further cheese market weakness is anticipated but it may only be modest. Global and domestic butter markets have weakened in recent weeks. Additional butter market declines may be impending. Prices per pound, except Class I Cream (hundred weight), from USDA.

Fresh Produce

Apples/Pears-Reds are in short supply but the remaining fruit is still mostly small and heavy to the higher grades. Fancy grade fruit is extremely limited but there are a few second grade Washington-Extras around. Expect lower grade fruit to remain very short for the rest of the storage deal. C.A. Golden Delicious are finished for the season. Some suppliers are packing Gingergolds and supreme golds. We should see the first new-crop Golden delicious next week. Galas are essentially finished in California but Washington is getting better numbers. The Washington Gala's are heavy to small fruit. Washington C.A. Granny-Smiths remain heavy to larger fruit while 100's and smaller remain limited. California continues packing a few Granny's and they are peaking on smaller fruit. California continues packing Bartlett pears and they remain heavy to 100's and smaller. Bosc pears and stark crimsons are also available in California.

Raspberries-Moderate supplies and demand is causing a steady market. Quality is good with a few fair lots showing up.

Broccoli-The market has begun the week steady on bunched product as well as crowns. Supplies are better on crowns in comparison to last week, with a few suppliers. Salinas and Santa Maria continue to be the two main growing regions for this commodity. There are no major quality issues to report at this time.

Stone Fruit-Peaches are available with the demand starting to exceed supplies the market is strengthening up a bit. Mostly tray packs available with limited supplies of volume fill fruit. Nectarines are available with high demand and fruit peaking to large sizes most fruit is being packed in trays. Red and Black plums are available with good volume on larger sizes. All stone fruit is now running large with very limited small fruit available. Apricots are finished up for the California season

Seafood

Ground Fish-Almost every fishing boat from the New Jersey coast to Maine came in to avoid the effects of Hurricane Maria. Landings were heavy over the weekend with a few bigger boats waiting until today to offload. Landings will drop off over the next few days until the fleet can cycle back out again. Fishing is generally poor after a storm, because it takes time for the fleet to find where the fish have gone and depending on the storm's severity some schools of fish will scatter. Expect prices to rise later this week as landings drop off before boats that have gone fishing can cycle back in again.

Halibut-Halibut landings from the Canadian Maritimes are very light and will remain so until boats can cycle back out again after the storm passes. The expected opening from the Quebec/Labrador fisheries has not opened because of bad weather. With limited landings prices are very high and it is doubtful if they will drop this week.

Tuna-Landings of Big Eye and Yellow fin tuna fish from American and Canadian swordfish boats have been very limited. There are some Albacore being landed in Canada, but very few fish are being shipped into the USA market. Imports from Central America and Indonesia make up the bulk of imported tuna.
